

Online Marketing Services

Last Updated Wednesday, 16 April 2008

There are lots of ways to spend money marketing online. We can guide you to marketing programs that tend to work well for many clients.

There are lots of ways to spend money marketing online. We can guide you to marketing programs that tend to work well for many clients. Paid search advertising is very cost effective. Offline actions, such as special events, in your local market can work when done well. And finally, any local marketing actions around phone listings and directories tend to help buzz-generating special events more effective. What about web banner advertising? What about email list marketing? The options are endless, some seem shady, some are illegal, and some just plain don't make sense. We can help you cut through this clutter to do the basic online marketing actions that we've seen work. Please see our entire review of online and offline marketing channels to gain an understanding of what can help and what is just hype.